

Pikes Peak Music Teachers Association November 9, 2021 Colorado Springs, CO
Virtually via Zoom

Welcoming Autistic Students to Your Studio

Current research and supportive approaches from a strengths viewpoint teach us to toss aside old myths and practices built on deficits

We're Not Broken: Changing the Autism Conversation, Eric Garcia

Neurotribes : the legacy of autism and the future of neurodiversity, Steve Silberman

YouTube channels

Peter Wharmby Routines make autistic people happier!

Damon Kirsebom Just a tiny snippet of some of my sensory experiences as I attempt to fit into this world.

thinkingautismguide.com

Rethinking Autism: Implications of Sensory and Movement Differences

AWN Resources to build acceptance and understanding of disability, <https://autismwomensnet-work.org/blog/>

Comic strip explanation of autism <https://the-art-of-autism.com/understanding-the-spectrum-a-comic-strip-explanation/>

Ann Memmott, Autistic autism professional. National and international speaker <https://annsautism.blogspot.com/>

Autism: some good questions and some less good <https://medium.com/@sonyahallett/autism-some-good-questions-and-some-less-good-bc913f710ee4>

Music Therapy Can Be a Life-Changer - The important link between music, health, and happiness.

https://www.psychologytoday.com/ca/blog/how-music-heals/202109/music-therapy-can-be-life-changer?fbclid=IwAR1klCtj1_wA304aHu8CY2chJktLE5OsjYRVCuVgfWcA9iyJA2dZISG9gBo

"Music therapists work to improve quality of life by achieving therapeutic goals that are meaningful to each individual. That can look different for different folks—for those with Alzheimer's, for special needs children, for hospitalized children and adults, to name just a few."

www.musictherapy.org

Kristin Jordheim MA, MT-BC AdvantageMusicTherapy.com kristin.Jordheim@gmail.com 720-432-0878